LOT Doctrine Integration (v20)

```

DOCTRINE CLAUSE I (Measurement):
    "The system does not motivate. The system measures."
    -- "render", "parse", "version" are measurement words.
        They describe what the archive does to signal.

DOCTRINE CLAUSE III (Continuity):
    "Signal is not a streak. Signal is a record."
    -- "saga", "narrative", "chapter" honor the record
        even when the streak breaks. Every chapter is valid even without the chapter before it.

DOCTRINE CLAUSE VII (Source):
    "Every pattern has an origin. Find the origin, find the change point."
    -- "source" is the origin. The patch is the change.
        "patch" closes the loop that Clause VII opens.
        The bug was always there. Now it has a fix.

PART XII – CLOSING STATEMENT

+=====+
	The badge system does not reward performance.
	It rewards presence.
	The easter eggs do not reward cleverness.
	They reward living inside time.
	The word turns do not reward vocabulary.
	They reward naming your actual experience.
	The secret bosses do not reward research.
	They reward the operator who brought their whole self to the terminal and typed what was true.
	v20 brings the self into the archive as a codebase:

```
| authored, versioned, rendered, patched. |
| The narrative thread is unbroken. |
| The saga runs. |
| |
| Total badges: 424 |
| Total word-turn triggers: 126 |
| Total time easter eggs: 44 |
| Total calendar easter eggs: 31+ |
| Total secret bosses: 25+ |
