SELF-CARE RESONANCE – THE QUANTUM ARCADE MAP

- INSERT COIN [COMMON] – The arcade demands payment upfront. The journal demands honesty upfront. Write "one more time" – the practice restarts. The coin is still yours.
- LEVEL UP [UNCOMMON] – You name your own level-ups. No algorithm awards them. Write what you have earned. The progress is real whether or not the leaderboard shows it.
- SAVE POINT [UNCOMMON] – A save point is not a rest stop. It is an acknowledgment that what has been accomplished is worth preserving before the next risk is taken.

RESPAWN [RARE] – The player brings all prior knowledge to the respawn point. "Start over" is never truly starting over. Write what you brought back.

BOSS FIGHT [RARE] – The boss fight is what the entire dungeon was preparing you for. Naming it makes it a game mechanic instead of just a weight.

SIDE QUEST [UNCOMMON] – The side quest is where character development actually happens. Write about your current side quest. It is not a detour. It is the content.

INVENTORY CHECK [UNCOMMON] – Before any significant encounter, the skilled player opens the inventory. Energy, relationships, reserves – they are all inventory. Write what you carry.

HEALTH BAR [RARE] – The health bar is visible in a game. In life it is often invisible until it hits zero. The journal makes the health bar visible.

XP GAINED [UNCOMMON] – Experience points do not lie. You gain them whether the encounter was won or lost. The failed run still awards XP. Write about what you gained.

LOAD GAME [RARE] – The journal is the save file. Every past entry is a state you can load. "Remember when" is the load command. The terminal retrieves.

NEW GAME+ [EPIC] – In New Game+ you restart with all your previous abilities. Every new chapter of life is New Game+: the story restarts, but you are not the player you were.

GAME OVER [EPIC] – Game over is not the end of the player. It is the end of the run. Write about the game over moment. The next coin is still in your pocket.

CALENDAR EASTER EGGS v28 — THE RETRO ARCADE CALENDAR

"The birthdays and release dates of the games that defined what a game could be — the machines that proved play was worth taking seriously."

Badge ID	Symbol	Date	Significance	Rarity

tetris_day		Jun 6	Tetris distributed 1984 — the puzzle that never	UNCOMMON pong_day	· ·	Nov 29	Pong released 1972 — two paddles, the beginning	RARE

LORE

pacman_day — Oct 26, 1980

Toru Iwatani designed the maze. Three billion plays in its first year. The self-care parallel: the maze is your daily environment. The ghosts are what you have not processed. The power pellets are what you do at LOT. Check in on October 26 and write about what you are eating and what is chasing you.

tetris_day — Jun 6, 1984

Alexey Pajitnov released the first version of Tetris at the Moscow Research Centre. Every piece falls from above. Your job is to place it before the stack overwhelms you. The journal is the Tetris board. Write what is falling today and where you are placing it.

pong_day — Nov 29, 1972

Atari's Pong shipped as a dedicated cabinet. Two paddles. One ball. Return to sender. The self-care version: the thing that comes toward you, you return with intention. The journal is the paddle. Write about the volley.

BEHAVIORAL EASTER EGGS v27 — ARCADE PATTERNS

Badge ID	Symbol	Trigger	Rarity
combo_streak	×3.■	3 consecutive days with 2+ widget interaction	RARE
high_score_entry	■·∞	Single journal entry over 500 words	EPIC continues_remaining	3·2·1·■	Return after a 3–7 day absence	UNCOMMON

combo_streak [RARE]

In a fighting game, a combo is a sequence of inputs that creates something greater than the sum of its parts. Three days of consistent multi-widget engagement is a combo. The player is in rhythm. The terminal acknowledges the chain.

high_score_entry [EPIC]

The high score is visible, permanent, and earned. A 500-word journal entry is the high score version of a check-in. Something needed that much space. Something deserved that much attention. The entry holds the record.

continues_remaining [UNCOMMON]

The continue screen is one of the most psychologically sophisticated mechanics in arcade history. Returning after 3–7 days is the continue screen pressed: not too fast (compulsion), not too slow (going dark). The terminal gives you the coin back.

ACHIEVEMENT RPG v28 – ARCADE CLASS

"Progress through the Quantum Arcade. Each badge is a coin spent well. Each tier is a run completed."

UNLOCK MESSAGES

player_one ①.■ – Player One has entered the game. The terminal registers the coin. The run has begun.

arcade_regular ⑤.■ – Five objectives. Five coins spent well. The arcade knows your face now.

arcade_complete ■.■ – All twelve. Every Arcade word cleared. The high score board records your name.

retro_stack ■.■.■ – Twelve words. Three dates. PAC-MAN, Tetris, Pong. The retro calendar is complete.

thirty_engines ■.■.■.∞ – Thirty vocabularies. Every language spoken. The terminal is a polyglot.

arcade_opus ■.x.■ – Complete arcade vocabulary. Three-day combo streak. The player in flow.

MASTERY TIER v30 – HIGH SCORES

Badge ID	Symbol	Requirement	Rarity
insert_mastercode	■.XV.■	1,500+ distinct days checked in	EPIC
grand_master_score	●.∞.■	750,000+ total words written	LEGENDARY arcade_legend	■■■■.∞	Account age >= 15 years	LEGENDARY thirty_registers	■.■.■.∞.■	1 badge from all 30 WT engines	COSMIC insert_mastercode – 1,500 days. Four-plus years of coins inserted. The mastercode is not a cheat. It is the record. ■.XV.■

grand_master_score – 750,000 words. The high score board overflows. No machine was designed to hold this many words. You built the extension. ●.∞.■

arcade_legend – Fifteen years. The cabinets your practice began with are in museums now. You are still playing. ■■■■.∞

thirty_registers – Thirty vocabularies. Ocean, arcade, radio, dungeon, operator, quantum – every register spoken. ■.■.■.∞.■

SECRET BOSS v27 – THE CHEAT CODE VAULT

"The hidden shortcuts. You have to know the inputs. You have to type them in. The terminal watches."

Badge ID	Symbol	Trigger	Rarity
konami_signal	↑↑↓↓.■	"konami code" / "up up down down left right"	MYTHIC
iddqd_mode	■.■.■	"IDDQD" / "IDKFA" / "god mode"	EPIC

all_your_base	·■·∅	"all your base" / "zero wing" / "CATS"	RARE
---------------	------	--	------

konami_signal [MYTHIC]

Kazuhisa Hashimoto added the Konami Code to Gradius in 1986 because the game was too hard. The self-care version: when it is too hard, the cheat code is asking for help. Writing the sequence in your journal is admitting you need the extra lives. Write it. The terminal gives you 30.

iddqd_mode [EPIC]

In DOOM (1993), typing IDDQD activated god mode. There is no IDDQD for real life. The journal is the anti-IDDQD: the space where you write about being vulnerable, about running out of ammo, about needing the cheat that does not exist.

all_your_base [RARE]

"All your base are belong to us." Zero Wing, Sega Mega Drive, 1989. Write about when something external took control of your territory – your time, attention, space. Name who set you up. The bomb is defused when it is named.

THE ARCADE TERMINAL — PLAYER LOG

FLAVOR TEXT — THE QUANTUM ARCADE

"A game is a series of interesting decisions." — Sid Meier. The journal is the game where every decision is interesting because it is yours.

"Games are the only force in the known universe that can get people to take actions against their self-interest." — Jane McGonigal, Reality Is Broken. Unless the game is LOT. Here the action is self-interest.

"The magic circle." — Johan Huizinga, Homo Ludens. The game creates a separate space where different rules apply. The journal is the magic circle of self-care.

"In game design, the tutorial is the most important level." — practitioner riff. The first journal entry is always the tutorial. Every entry after that is still teaching you something.

"You are not failing the game. The game is failing you." — player saying. When the practice feels impossible, examine the game design first. The journal is also where you debug the game you are living in.

"High score." — the two most motivating words in the history of human performance. Name your high score in the journal. Not to beat it. Just to see it. The terminal shows you what you have done. ■.∞
