PART X — DESIGN DOCTRINE

THREE LAWS OF LOT BADGE DESIGN

- I. Every badge is a mirror, not a trophy. It reflects behavior back without judgment.
- II. The rarest badges cost the most attention. You cannot grind your way to Mythic.
- III. The system never takes. Badges earned are permanent. There is no failure state.

THE WORD TURN PRINCIPLE

When a user writes "I feel like I'm in an infinite loop", they are reaching for technical vocabulary to describe emotional states. This is a signal. The system honors it by speaking back in the same language.

THE SCI-FI BOOK PRINCIPLE

Science fiction is philosophy at speed. When a user writes "dune" or "42" or "matrix", they are placing their experience inside a larger story — the oldest coping mechanism. The badge says: "You found your story inside another story."

THE LOT MYTHOLOGY PRINCIPLE

A user who types "vadik" or "2016" or "lot systems" in their self-care journal has achieved rare meta-awareness: they are reflecting on the container itself. The system's deepest lore badges reward this recursive lucidity.
